Dear People of Annunciation,

The following reflection 'The Walk to Emmaus' is taken from Bishop Frank & Victoria Logue's book Holy Mysteries: Encountering the Risen Jesus. Please read from the gospel of Luke 24:13-35, then the reflection. Easter Blessings, Denise+

Jesus had already appeared to the women in the garden before this encounter on the road out of town. We know this because the full passage in Luke's Gospel includes their reporting to Jesus how the tomb was discovered empty. As a shepherd brings the strays back to the flock, Jesus goes after these two lost sheep leaving Jerusalem in disappointment and confusion. The two disciples do not recognize Jesus. While this lack of recognition is common in resurrection appearances, it is odd that Jesus pretends not to know them or to have any idea about what has transpired this passover either. Jesus asks what has been going on in Jerusalem. Cleopas and the other disciple tell Jesus about how the one they thought was the Messiah had been put to death and then add, "Some women of our group astounded us. They were at the tomb early this morning, and when they did not find his body there, they came back and told us that they had indeed seen a vision of angels who said that he was alive. Some of those who were with us went to the tomb and found it just as the women had said; but they did not see him." Jesus then lets the mask slip a little here and chides the disciples saying, "Oh, how foolish you are, and how slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have declared! Was it not necessary that the Messiah should suffer these things and then enter into his glory?" Jesus then begins what must have been the best Bible study ever undertaken. Jesus patiently explains how everything he has done was predicted by the prophets. The ministry of Jesus in what we now call the New Testament dovetails perfectly into the Old Testament. Jesus paints a perfect picture of who the Messiah is. This is an important example of how, for some lessons, the time has to be right. Jesus had been predicting his death and resurrection, but his disciples failed to understand what he is saying. Only after his death and resurrection, can they see the words of the prophets in a new light. With the students ready to truly hear the lesson, the teacher appears on the Road to Emmaus to shed new light on those familiar passages, like the Suffering Servant in Isaiah, that no one had seen as messianic. The two disciples still don't understand that they are walking with Jesus. Their eyes will be opened when the encounter continues in our reading this Saturday, but for now we see how the early church looked at the Old Testament anew with the hindsight provided by Jesus' life and ministry, his death and resurrection. Jesus himself interpreted the Hebrew scripture for them, giving them eyes to see what they had missed. Cleopas and the other disciple reach Emmaus. Jesus intends to keep going. The Greek word translated here "as if he were going on" means "pretending to go on." The disciples prove themselves to be Christ followers, offering the stranger hospitality. Then at the meal that evening, the stranger who is the guest becomes the host. Jesus takes the bread, blesses the bread, breaks the bread and gives the bread to those gathered for the meal. Then comes the "Eureka!" moment in breaking the bread. How very Jesus. This is exactly what Jesus did when he fed the thousands on a hillside with two weensy fish and five barley loaves. In all these accounts of the feeding of thousands, Jesus takes the bread, blesses the bread, breaks the bread and gives the bread. More recently, Jesus did the same at The Last Supper, just a few nights earlier. On that night, Jesus took, blessed, broke and gave the bread. Jesus explained that he was the bread. Jesus, who had already been taken and blessed by God, was broken by man on Good Friday and now on Easter, this same Jesus was being given back to the world. Then they knew the stranger on the road was Jesus. As soon as awareness dawns on them, Jesus is gone. Vanished. But the two who had been slipping out of town alone had experienced the risen Jesus. At once they retraced their steps back to the upper room in Jerusalem. The seven mile slog out from town is now a quick trot back. Cleopas and the unnamed disciple learned that Peter too had seen the risen Jesus. Then they added their own experience on the Road to Emmaus to the stories of the resurrected Lord, telling what had happened on the road and how he was made known to them in the breaking of the bread. The pattern of the encounter on the Road to Emmaus is the same pattern for our Sunday worship as we first hear the Word of God read and commented on and then we move to the sacrament of the Eucharist. Scripture and Bread. Word and Sacrament. We gather to hear the word of God in our scripture readings, in the songs we sing (which are scriptural as well) and through the words of the sermon, we spend time in the word. Next, we will move to the table and on behalf of our risen Lord, The Celebrant will take, bless, break and give the bread—the bread that is Christ's presence among us. Like Cleopas and the unnamed disciple, we have found that when we gather for word and sacrament, we can depend on Jesus showing up. Like all of the resurrection appearances, the Road to Emmaus matters not just because Jesus was once made known to two disillusioned disciples, but as we find that Jesus is still made known in word and sacrament.

Pentecost Sunday June 8

On Pentecost Sunday we celebrate one of the most important and festive days in the life of the Church; the feast of Pentecost and the “birthday” of the church. The feast of Pentecost is the last day of the Easter season, and is celebrated ten days after the Ascension and fifty days after Easter. Many years ago, on that day, the disciples had gathered in Jerusalem to celebrate the Jewish Pentecost (the celebration of the giving of the law to Moses on Mount Sinai) when the Holy Spirit was poured out upon them. “And suddenly from heaven there came a sound like the rush of a violent wind, and it filled the entire house where they were sitting. Divided tongues, as of fire, appeared among them, and a tongue rested on each of them. All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit” (Acts 2: 2-4a).

Today, it can be difficult for us to realize just how profound an experience it was for the Jewish Christians who witnessed that amazing event in Jerusalem. We are accustomed to hearing about the Holy Spirit who provides us with gifts to be used to further God's kingdom on earth, and who also guides and leads the church in Christ's saving work. To those first Christians, the idea that the Spirit of God would lead and guide everyone who believed in the risen Christ was a new idea. All these years later, we have come to know the Holy Spirit as the Lord who leads us into all truth and enables us to grow in the likeness of Christ (An Outline of the Faith, BCP pg. 852). At our baptism, we are filled with the Holy Spirit to equip us and light a fire within us to be the hands and feet of Christ.

How do we experience the power of the Spirit? We experience the Holy Spirit through the Word of God, through the community of the church, in our various spiritual gifts, by communion with God in prayer, and through God's help in our everyday circumstances. What are some of the gifts given by the Spirit? Gifts might include: prophecy, service, helping, teaching, encouraging, giving, leadership, showing mercy, evangelism, pastor/teacher, faith, healing, miracles, and discernment. How can we tell if we are being led by the Spirit? We can tell by the “fruit” of our life—our attitudes and actions. Galatians 5:22-23 says, “The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness and self-control.” The Spirit moves us to live and grow into what it means to be the Body of Christ.

Don't forget to wear red on Pentecost Sunday, and thank you for your faithful stewardship of time, money, and spiritual gifts used to enable us, through the power of the Holy Spirit, to be the hands and feet of Christ in our world today. Rev. Denise
